The manuscript presented stands out for its quality and theoretical depth. This is an important and necessary topic. In order to contribute to the improvement of the study, I suggest some adjustments that will be detailed below:

- The summary is complete and has all the necessary requirements, namely, justification/contextualization, objectives, theoretical-methodological framework, results and final considerations.
- The introduction is clear and adequately introduces the reader to the universe of research. I just suggest reducing it to a maximum of two pages, keeping the objectives that were correctly inserted in the section.
- The methodology is presented in a pertinent manner and meets the needs of the study.
- The results and discussions are in-depth and linked to the references that support the study. I only suggest including more recent studies, which will give even more theoretical support to the theme presented.
- The final considerations are reflective and relate to the results and objectives of the study. The limitations of the study are also correctly presented, I suggest just removing topics from the format.
- The references used are relevant and substantial for the area. I just suggest reviewing the standards and including recent studies to corroborate the ideas presented, including in the introduction.

Considering the relevance of the theme and the theoretical and reflective depth of the study, I consider it capable of being published based on the suggested corrections. I highlight again that the notes were made with the aim of contributing to the improvement of the manuscript, which already stands out for its theme and construction.
